

Arts & Leisure

Dene Chernaske was re-elected chairperson of White Rock Concerts at the Annual General Meeting held May 25 at the ABC Family Restaurant. Elizabeth Bordeaux who has been secretary of the White Rock Concert Society for the past 11 years announced she was stepping down.

Others elected were George Zukerman, vice president; Sylvia Wilson, secretary; Doreene Harvey, treasurer; and board members Ron Legeer, Erika Bennedik, Don and Hilde Beddows, Emerson and Eileen Reid, and Walter Dunn.

Concerts society elects new board

Strong membership continues to climb

Chernaske took the opportunity of the annual general meeting to extend special thanks to Bordeaux for 11 years of participating service, and to Lillian and Gill Bickerton for three years at the head of the membership sub-committee.

"We have a strong membership, and we believe we are meeting the needs and interests of White Rock concert goers," said Chernaske in her annual report. "We hope to maintain our policy of presenting a bonus concert each season."

Chernaske also extended thanks to the Cultural Services Branch of the Provincial Government for funding assistance towards the costs of B.C. and Canadian artists. White Rock Concerts played to a total audience of over 3000 at the five concerts presented last season.

Retiring membership chairman Lillian Bickerton reported that 52 per cent of 93-94 subscribers have already renewed their memberships for the new season.

Former subscribers are reminded to apply for memberships at Flying High in Semiahmoo Mall, Ward Music in Langley, and Carillon Music on the King George Highway at 70th Avenue. Memberships are also available by mail from the Community Arts Council at 15125 Russell Ave., White Rock, V4B 2P4.